

MOODY HOPES TO AVOID INCREASING STATE'S TAX RATE

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, May 5.—Hope that the ad valorem tax rate may not have to be raised despite estimates of the Senate Finance Committee to the contrary was expressed today by Governor Dan Moody.

"We hope and believe that the present tax may be sufficient, but it must be remembered that the ad valorem tax was cut to 23c last summer for political reasons in the heart of the governors' campaign," Moody said. "The long announced policy of utmost frugality consistent with good government of course will be followed, however, and there is a strong possibility that the State's needs can be cared for without an increase."

A. E. Wood of Granger, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, had stated that an increase from 23c to 32c will be necessary for the first half of the coming biennium and from 32c to 35c for the second half.

MANLESS TRACTOR IS LATEST ADJUNCT TO FARM BUSINESS

By Associated Press.
Lincoln, Neb., May 5.—A "manless" tractor, controlled by an electric device, plowed a field successfully yesterday before a crowd of farmers, professors of agriculture and business men.

Unaided by a human hand, except when the first furrow was plowed as a guide, the machine, equipped with an automatic guide invented by F. L. Zibach of Grand Island, Neb., plowed a 20-acre field on the college of agriculture farm of the University of Nebraska near here.

The tractor runs in an irregular circle, rounding the corners. Except for replenishing the gasoline and oil, it needs no attention. The electric control stops the machine should it leave the furrow and when the work is completed.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR SINGING MEET LIMESTONE COUNTY

Special to the Sun.
Mexico, Texas, May 3.—Elaborate plans are being made for the entertainment of more than 3,000 people expected to attend the two-day Limestone County Singing Convention at Point Enterprise Sunday, May 8.

These singings are always attended by large numbers from the rural communities, not only of this county, but of neighboring counties as well.

Tom Daugherty, president of the singing convention, has been in conference with Point Enterprise committees on plans. Mexico will invite the convention to hold its October session in the new $150,000 auditorium which is now being completed. It will be one of the first conventions to use the new building, if Mexico is selected for the fall convention.

SECRETARY KELLOGG REFUSES TO DISCUSS WAR DEBTS MATTER

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 5.—Great Britain has sought an official statement from the Washington government arising from Secretary Mellon's letter to President Hibben of Princeton University regarding the British war debt, but Secretary Kellogg, in a two-paragraph note, has replied that the discussion was purely domestic and no desire for diplomatic exchanges is entertained.

To the opinion expressed in the British note, however, that Mr. Mellon's letter was in some instances inaccurate and that some declaration seemed advisable "to remove the unfortunate impression that had been created," the American treasury secretary countered with a lengthy statement devoted to defense of his Hibben communication and a reiteration that cancellation of war debts would place an unjust burden upon American people.

Specifically, the British note complained against what it termed the misleading impression given by Mr. Mellon that Great Britain debt payments to the United States will not constitute a drain on England's economic resources and she is receiving in reparations from other nations more than her payments to the American treasury.

Chief Point of Disagreement.
A chief point of disagreement which appears to have been a leading factor in the new airing of war debts was a statement by Mr. Mellon in his Hibben letter that "All our principal debtors are already receiving from Germany more than enough to pay their debts to the United States."

This the British government denied as to its own circumstances and Mr. Mellon, in his public statement admits that through a typographical error the words "except Great Britain" were inadvertently omitted. He contended, however, that the error was "an obvious one" and was corrected immediately in the text following:

After explaining how the omission was covered in the text, the treasury secretary said:

"In the light of this very clear and definite statement, it is rather surprising that the British government should lay stress on what the context showed to be a typographical error, immediately corrected, and go to such length to disprove a statement which was already completely covered."

Reparations Divided.
The British note declared that apparently Mr. Mellon did not take into consideration that the British Empire reparations receipts have to be distributed between Great Britain and other parts of the Empire, the share of Great Britain having been agreed upon at 86.85 per cent of the total. It further states that "a more important error is contained" in Secretary Mellon's figures of the receipts of Great Britain and France.

"These appear to include," the note said, "the sums which were

CAPT. GRAY SEES EARTH FROM NEARLY EIGHT MILES IN AIR

By Associated Press.

Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., May 5.—America apparently has captured another laurel in the conquest of the air, through the ascension of Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, army aviator yesterday at a height of approximately 41,000 feet. It is believed that this is the highest altitude ever attained in a free balloon. From his basket he surveyed the earth from a distance of nearly eight miles.

While the sealed altimeter in Gray's balloon remained to be calibrated by the Bureau of Standards at Washington, Captain Gray said he checked his instruments at 40,000 feet and found them to be accurate.

Starting at 1:35 p. m. Captain Gray piloted his balloon to its maximum height until a pain in his chest forced him to descend after his instruments indicated he had reached his goal. He landed at 4 p. m. at Golden Gate, Ill., more than 100 miles away.

Descending to 8,000 feet and finding that his craft was headed for a swamp at more than 1,600 feet per minute, Gray removed his oxygen mask and observed the balloon failed to "parachute." Gray then made a parachute jump to a muddy field within 200 yards of a creek.

An enormous aviation suit enabled him to withstand the temperature of sixty degrees below zero, while a specially designed mixer, equipped with an electric heater, provided him with ample oxygen in the rarefied atmosphere. Medical officers here said he had reached the limit of human endurance in rarified air.

PRESIDENT URGES PEOPLE SUBSCRIBE FLOOD RELIEF FUND

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 3.—The Red Cross Mississippi flood relief fund today totaled $5,384,929. The minimum set is $10,000,000.

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 3.—Impressed with the dire plight of thousands of sufferers in the Mississippi river flood area and the grave crisis caused by further crumbling of levees, President Coolidge has appealed to the Nation to increase to $10,000,000 its donations for relief work.

This is twice the amount which was originally requested and means that the American public must duplicate its performance of the past week if the President's new figure is to be reached. The first fund has been slightly over-subscribed.

The conclusion to double the first appeal was reached after an extended conference between President Coolidge and Secretary Hoover who had just returned from the flood zone. Assured that $10,000,000 would be the minimum needed to care for the great throng of refugees, the President again urged citizens to forward contributions expeditiously to the Red Cross.

Shortly before issuing his proclamation, Mr. Coolidge announced he would be unable to accept the invitation of Governors of the Mississippi Valley States to make a visit to the area.

HUTCHINSON COUNTY SHERIFF EXPECTED TENDER RESIGNATION

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, May 4.—Joe Owenby, sheriff of Hutchinson county, is expected here some time next week to tender his resignation personally to Governor Dan Moody.

Advices were received yesterday of the proffered resignation of John R. Miller, mayor of Borger, and a city commissioner also is expected to vacate office soon.

Owenby was scheduled to arrive here today but wired that court activities would delay his arrival.

LIBRARY TO OPEN TO PUBLIC AGAIN FRIDAY MORNING

The Corsicana Public Library has been closed to the public for the past several days on account of the placing of floor coverings and other repairs and renovations which were being made in connection with the overhauling and repainting of the building.

Mrs. Mattie C. Houston, librarian, stated Wednesday that the library would be reopened to the public Friday morning at 9 o'clock and that regular hours would be observed thereafter. The library building has been greatly improved and made more attractive and comfortable by the rehabilitation through which it has just passed.

Rhuel Carroll and Jno. Kyser of Corsicana were Corsicana visitors Wednesday.

IN MEMORY OF MOTHER

On Sunday, May 8th, Mother's Day will again be observed throughout the nation. Each year thousands and thousands of words are written about Mother's Day and Mother. There is no other subject that finds a responsive chord so readily and even the most hard-hearted and careless will listen
when Mother is mentioned.

Some of the best Mother's Day sentiment has ever been this writers privilege to read is contained in a "Mother's Day booklet," a copy of the third edition of which has come to the editor's desk.
These thoughts on Mother were compiled and written by Mamie Downard Peck of this city. Mrs.
Peck is a writer of prose and poetry of note and the thoughts coming from her prolific pen have been published in some of the leading newspapers and magazines of the country. For a number of years Mrs. Peck was society editor for the Sun.

The Mother's Day Booklet is dedicated with the following words:

"To the one I love most, and who loved me most—My Mother."
Of Mother's Day Mrs. Peck writes: "Who will not wear a white or red flower for her sake
She, who almost kissed the pale lips of death that we might live; she, who gave youth and beauty every sleeping and waking hour to watch over and care for us; She,
whose life has been daily, hourly sacrificed, with the holy, white flame of motherhood to kindle the sacrificial fires. Let us all do loving, reverent homage to our mothers, that the world may know her sacrifice and love are not in vain."

In her tribute to "My Mother," Mrs. Peck chronicles some beautiful thoughts which will bring back memories to many of us: "She has gone into the realms of infinity; Never again the soft touch of her hand that soothed, the calm sweetness of her voice which gave courage, the untold wisdom of mind that never grew old, though the eyes grew dim. All who knew her called her blessed. Her thoughts were sweet charity, her life fully exemplified them. No word of hers ever placed the blot of scandal on a fellow creature. Walking in the ways of God, she was the beacon light of many weaker souls that flattered with life's burdens and temptations.

"If there be good within me, if there be strength, if there is the spirit that forgives, the eye to discern virtue rather than fault, ascribe it to my angel mother, whose mortal voice is still, but whose immortal voice speaks in a thousand tongues to guide my ofttimes bewildered brain and steps on and on to higher goals. She it was, who inspired my deeds and example, not by empty sounding words. Thank God for my mother."

PERISHABLE GOODS

All but an insignificant minority of the novelists of today, it is believed began their writing careers with the desire to achieve fame or to satisfy a creative urge as the main incentive. The making of money through the sale of their books was a secondary consideration; probably it was not until they had published one or two volumes that most of those who now depend upon their novels for a livelihood decided to make the writing of fiction their principal occupation.

Since fame, glory, and a place
among the immortals of literature are the gaudiums that have been most prominent in our novelists' minds, there is a good deal of irony in the statement made by the president of the American Booksellers' Association, that almost without exception a contemporary book of fiction, after having been published three months, is "practically dead, forgotten, and awaiting removal to the bargain tables." Merit or lack of it has nothing to do with the phenomenon; admirable novels last no longer than poor ones.

There is something pathetic in the idea of a writer putting the energy, the thought and feeling of a year or more into a work which, though excellent, should be so forgotten.

The situation directs attention to certain conditions of modern life which are not to our credit
—the ease and craving of the public for something new, even if the old is good and has not been utilized as it might be, and the tendency to follow a fad in an un-reasoning way as a flock of sheep follow their leader.

Contemporary novels have become, from the bookseller's standpoint, perishable goods because the craze for novelty has advanced to the point where book buyers are not satisfied unless they can get fiction which is just off the press.
Each wants to be able to talk about novels that are new and have suffered grievously as a result.

CROSSINGS MUST GO
The automobile long since supplanted the railway locomotive in the unchangeable stellar role it filled for many years as chief instrument of accidental death to the traveling public.

In 1925 there were 22,500 "automobile deaths" in the United States and approximately one-quarter that number of deaths in railway accidents. Of these latter, moreover, only 209 were of passengers. Trespassers in the number of 2,644 and employees to the number of 1,600 were killed.

Due to the general high level of excellence of railroad rolling stock and the perfection of safety devices, the number of railway casualties was, in view of the great mileage and heavy passenger services indicated for the period, gratifyingly low.

There remained, however, and still remains, as a prolific source of death and terrible accident, the grade crossings, which is the subject of an article in a forthcoming issue of the American Automobile Association, in which comparisons, distinctly unflattering to the railroad companies of this country, are made between the systems of crossing protection employed in the United States, in England and in France.

The following summarization
tells the tale:
Number of deaths—United States,
2,206; England, 23; France 22.
Motors registered—United States,
19,900,000; England 1,500,000;
France 1,000,000.
Motors registered to each death
—United States 9,000; England
65,000; France 45,000.

The article shows, moreover that of 232,755 grade crossings used by motorists in the United States, 205,394 are entirely unguarded and the balance guarded by the familiar and flimsy wooden gates which,
save as a warning when lowered in time, afford no actual protection to approaching motorists.

The grade crossing is a cause of loss of life and limb. But it is more than that. It is the source of great economic loss. Measured by pecuniary standards, the time wasted by business in awaiting the passage of freight trains backing and filling at factory sidings adjoining intersections, amounts to a good deal.

The grade crossing is a menace to life; a waster of money; an anachronism.

It must go.
The Red Cross is still in need of money and clothing for the flood victims. Corsicana has already responded liberally but there are yet some who have not given to this worthy cause. Send in your check at once. Money donations are being handled by the Corsicana Daily Sun while Mrs. J. D. Jackson is taking care of all clothing gifts.

HEAVY RAIN FELL AND SOME HAIL FELL IN NAVARRO COUNTY

A heavy rain fell in practically all sections of Navarro county
Tuesday night and in some places considerable damage was done by hail. A strong wind and an electrical display accompanied the rain but the only damage reported from the wind was from Dawson, in the Western part of the county, where a window was blown from the building formerly occupied by the Palace drug store and a window from the I. O. O. F. building.

The greatest damage from the hail that was reported was between Barry and Blooming Grove, where gardens and growing crops were badly damaged. A strip of territory from Corbett north several miles was also in the path of the hail and considerable damage was done to crops. Corn was badly damaged. A house belonging to a Mrs. Moore near Purdon had 18 window lights broken out by the hail.

Richland reported only a light rain as did Kerens and Roane. At Powell very little rain fell but in all other sections of the county the rain was about like it was in Corsicana where 1.00 inches fell.

Roads Heavy But Generally Passable

Roads over Navarro county were generally passable but heavy in spots after the heavy rain Tuesday evening. Richland creek was reported bank full and still rising Wednesday morning, and it is probable that traffic in this direction will be stopped Wednesday night and Thursday.

The road to Dawson was reported very heavy but passable, with the same condition existing on the Barry-Blooming Grove road.
The road to Kerens was reported in good shape.

Travel was going through to East Texas Wednesday. The road
by Kemp and Mabank was reported heavy, but passable. The road is reported passable in all kinds of weather. Travel was also going through the Palmer bottom.
The road has been graded since the last rains and is in good condition.

Peter And The Risen Lord

John 20: 1-10; 21: 15-17
 John 20: 1. Now on the first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, while it was yet dark, unto the tomb, and seeth the stone taken away from the tomb.

2. She runneth therefore, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them: They have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him.

3. Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple and they went toward the tomb.

4. And they ran both together; and the other disciple outran Peter, and came first to the tomb;

5. and stooping and looking in, he seeth the linen cloths lying; yet entered he not in.

6. Simon Peter therefore also cometh, following him, and entered into the tomb; and he beholdeth the linen cloths lying.

7. And the napkin, that was upon his head, not lying with the linen cloths; but rolled up in a place by itself.

8. Then entered in therefore the other disciple also, who came first to the tomb, and he saw, and believed.

9. For as yet they knew not the scriptures, that he must arise again from the dead.

10. So the disciples went away again unto their own home.

21: 15. So when they had broken their fast, Jesus saith unto Simon Peter, Simon, son of John, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs.

16. He saith unto him again a second time, Simon, son of John, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, tend my sheep.

17. He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of John, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he saith unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep.

Golden Text—Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to his great mercy begat us again unto a living hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.—1 Peter

(Text is from the American Standard Edition of the Revised Bible copyright, 1901, by Thomas Nelson & Sons, and used by permission.)

Seeing is believing, is an old saying. You will have to show me, is another.

The people of Palestine, or I may as well say the world, in Jesus' time were just as hard-headed as we are today. When Jesus was crucified the Jews came to Pilate and asked that a special guard be placed at the tomb. They explained that this man had said he would rise after death, that of course they knew was impossible, but it would not be beyond those followers of his to steal him away and pretend that he had risen. Pilate told them to guard the grave themselves, he had no further interest in the matter. And they did.

Then occurred another incident which to me brings a wonderful lesson. Peter turned and saw John and asked Jesus, "What shall this man do?" Jesus said this: "What is that to thee."

It seems to me that the favorite excuse of men and women who do questionable things, who want to excuse themselves for doing things they know they should not do, is that everybody does it. I know that men outside the church point to church members and claim that they are living just as fine and as decent lives outside the church as those who are members. Sometimes it is so and we can not deny it. I think the slimmest excuse in the world is this much-used one, "Everybody does it." People seem to think that what everybody does must be right. Jesus answered that very question when Peter, always full of curiosity and questions, asked what should John's job be. Jesus said what is that to thee, you do right yourself and I will attend to John. It was indeed a rebuke. The last of many rebukes the Lord turned toward Peter. I think it was the last one needed for Peter had learned his lesson. He had learned his lesson in denial and in the look of forgiveness. He now learned it again.

After the arrest of Jesus and the scenes before the high priest and Pilate and Peter's denial it would seem that Peter should have felt that he was no longer one of the disciples in good standing. It would occur to you and me that the other apostles would have turned away from him as they would have turned away from Judas had he lived and attempted to become again one of them. It may have been because they themselves had run away and felt more or less guilty, or it may have been that John who was with Jesus explained that Peter had been forgiven on the spot.

On the morning of the resurrection we find Peter and John together, walking and talking over the events of the crowded days of sorrow. Mary Magdalene found them together and they ran to the tomb together. Peter evidently considered himself still one of the band and there is nothing in the record to show that the disciples ever reproached him for his denial. Jesus himself in the presence and bearing of the others that morning on the lake shore tested out his love and gave him a great commission and named him for the work he was to do. And Peter followed that work to the end, over a period of many weary years and left for us his own record and his life.

We may not see the open tomb today as did Peter and John. We may not see and talk with Jesus by the lakeside, but we have the testimony of these men who saw and who talked with Jesus. The story is told so simply and so clearly that we may say with John, I have seen and I believe.

Historians and jurists and students attest fully the death and the resurrection. They accept the testimony of the disciples. John was the first to announce his belief in the risen Lord, the belief we now share with him and we also have the assurance, "Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."—The Republic Syndicate.

Knowing How Much To Buy Aids Thrift

How many pounds of sugar, butter, flour, coffee and other much used foods does the family require each week?

How many dozen eggs when eggs are plentiful; how few when they are scarce?

How much of a given kind of meat to buy for a single dinner; two dinners or for a dinner and lunch next day? How many a can of peapole will serve? How many breakfast servings there are in each box of cereal?

Definite knowledge on such points as these together with a good system of planning meals and buying for them, will go along way toward thrifty management of the food supply, according to federal economists.

They suggest an inspection of the preceding month's food bills to estimate how much the food per day averages; or in some cases, the food per person per day. In this way one can plan for the next week or month and buy more exactly.

In some families they suggest it may prove economical to buy perishables in day to day amounts rather than to lose part through spoilage; but, as a rule, buying in very small quantities is expensive, either because of the uneven distribution of the selling price for halves and quarters or because the dealer charges a higher rate.

Time as well as money can be saved, the economists hold, by shopping for staple groceries and canned goods in dozen or half dozen lots at intervals of several weeks or more. Clubbing with neighbors to buy perishables at wholesale rates also is suggested.

The Tudor is the most popular family sedan ever built. It is especially suitable for the family with small children as the little ones can't reach the door fasteners when left unattended in the rear seat. The big plate glass windows and one-piece windshield give clear vision in every direction—an important safety feature. In summer all four windows lower completely below the sills giving open car airiness. In winter they shut the weather out entirely and there is no car more comfortable. The all-steel body is finished in beautiful channel green and the deep, soft upholstery harmonizes with the body color.

Let us take your family for a free demonstration ride this week-end. You'll enjoy every minute of it and it will be a pleasure to us to introduce you to such a fine family car.

due by the Bank of France to the Bank of England in repayment of an advance made during the war. This loan was a private transaction and not an inter-governmental debt. The payments are made to the Bank of England and not one penny thereof accrues to the British treasury or the British government.

To this, Mr. Mellon replied: "While not admitting it, the British government's note does not deny that the sums specified in my letter were actually paid by the people of France, Germany and Italy, but says in substance that some of the sums paid accrued to the benefit of the Bank of England, others to the Dominions, and apparently from our reading of their figures such items as payment for war stocks are not considered by them as accruing to the benefit of the Exchequer on account of war debts.

Disagreement Apparent. "This is the real cause of the apparent disagreement as to facts. There is no basis of comparison when, for instance, payments on account of the war debts, as used by the American Treasury include the payments of account of war stocks sold, but such an item is not included by the British under the head of war debt payments. "Again, there is bound to be disagreement when the American Treasury Department, in discussing payments received from Germany, includes all payments while the British government in answer confines itself to payments strictly on account of reparations of war debts.

"Under such circumstances there is not a disagreement as to facts; there is simply a failure to join issue. "At the outset of its note, the British government emphasized that while it regretted Mr. Mellon's 'inaccuracies' the communication was presented 'in no contentious or controversial spirit.' "On the contrary," the note said, 'the (British) government's desire is to maintain and to promote a friendly understanding between the two great English speaking nations, on whose co-operation great issues for the peace and progress of the world depend.'

Note Arrived at Europe. By Associated Press. London, May 5.—A responsible Downing Street official told the Associated Press today that Great Britain's war debts note to the United States, was aimed primarily at her continental debtors and was designed to correct 'false impressions created on the continent,' by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's letter to President Hibben of Princeton University. The British government's official said had no criticism to make of the brief reply to the note, issued by Frank B. Kellogg, American Secretary of State.

Corporation Court Docket Is Varied

Five violations of the traffic ordinances were recorded Wednesday and Thursday in corporation court, as well as numerous other matters that occupied the time of the police. One man reported his car stolen. He had become stuck in the mud of a recent sewer excavation. He went for aid and in the meantime a garage firm pulled him out. He was delighted with the turn of events.

A negro woman scantily clad, was taken up by the police and turned over to the county for lunacy. A prowler was reported as having made an attempt to enter a house on West Tenth avenue. Two negro youths are alleged to have gone to a residence on the West Side, seeking yard work and after they had gone the lawn mower was discovered missing. A man drove his car into some concrete blocks on Sixteenth street, just off Third avenue and was said to have raised considerable disturbance but had gone before the officers arrived.

Willie Earl Foreman, negro, arrested for alleged shoplifting in the J. C. Penny Store, recently and turned over to the county, was reported to have escaped from the county farm where he was sentenced.

An auto collision was reported on Seventh street and a little girl, the daughter of Mrs. E. T. Corbett, was taken to the hospital with injuries resulting from the collision.

STATE HOME CONTRIBUTED PLEASING PROGRAM TO MUSIC WEEK WEDNESDAY EVENING

FLOOD RELIEF FUND GROWING STEADILY AFTER SECOND CALL

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 5.—The Red Cross Mississippi relief fund jumped nearly a million dollars with over night subscriptions, the total today being $7,183,548.

The local Red Cross chapter chairman, the Rev. H. J. Ellis, is in receipt of communications from the Red Cross officials in charge of the flood relief headquarters in which high compliment has been paid to Corsicana and her citizens for the manner in which response has been made to the call for funds. It is stressed that the response from Corsicana has been highly gratifying both from the standpoint of clothing and cash, but it is also stressed that the need is far greater than was at first anticipated and there is still dire need for both money and clothing.

That Corsicana citizens are responding with their sympathy and money will be seen from the fact that there have been voluntary subscriptions of more than $3,000 by local citizens, aided by Kerens, and Frost.

One of the most musical and thoroughly delightful contributions to Music Week, was the program given Wednesday evening, in the open, at the State Orphan Home by the music students under the able supervision of Miss Hallie Sadler.

The beautiful administration building was a fitting background for this lovely outdoor musical. The participants numbering three hundred or more boys and girls were seated on the broad steps leading up into the building, and the band, with Mr. Joel Trimble, leader, was seated just in front of the steps. The audience encircled the beautiful, lighted lawn.

To make a more entrancing picture, the new moon hovered over the scene for a time.

The program opened with an overture, "Radiant," and a serenade, "Softly Peals the Organ" by the band, composed of something like twenty-four boys and one girl.

The entire school then sang "Voices of the Wood" to the melodious tune of Rubenstein's "Melody in F," a beautiful Rubenstein-Watson arrangement made more beautiful by the well trained voices. The sixth and seventh grade pupils sang "Moon Rise," equally as well rendered.

The Girls Glee Club grouped about the two pianos on the upper landing, just at the entrance into the building, sang four tuneful numbers in a most finished style, and were followed by four young ladies at the two pianos who played a quartette, "Festival Procession March" by Rathburn. Two old familiar and much loved songs, "Old Black Joe" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" were sung by the school in remarkable unison and rhythm. The Glee Club gave "Now the Day is Over," and the band brought the program to a close with the "Star Spangled Banner."

Section 1: That Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2 (of Article V): The Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and eight Associate Justices, five of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of five Justices shall be necessary to the decision of a case. No person shall be eligible to the office of Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court unless he be, at the time of his election or appointment, a citizen of the United States and of this State, and unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years and shall have been a licensed lawyer for seven years and, during that time, shall have been a practicing lawyer or judge of a court of record, or such practicing lawyer and judge together. Said Chief Justice and Associate Justices shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State, at a general election, and shall hold their offices six years, or until their successors are elected and qualify, and shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. In case of a vacancy in the office of Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor shall fill the vacancy until the next general election for State officers, and at such general election the vacancy for the unexpired term shall be filled by election by the qualified voters of the State. The Judges of the Supreme Court who may be in office at the time this amendment takes effect shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office under the present Constitution and until their successors are elected and qualify. When this amendment takes effect, the Governor shall immediately appoint six additional Associate Justices of the Supreme Court for terms of office so that the total number of such appointed Associate Justices shall expire with the term of office of each of the present members of the Supreme Court, and upon the qualification of such new Justices, the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas shall terminate.

Section 3 (of Article V): The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only, except as herein specified, which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the State. Its appellate jurisdiction shall extend to questions of law arising in the cases in the Courts of Civil Appeals in which the Judges of any Court of Civil Appeals may disagree or where the several courts of civil appeals may hold differently on the same question of law, or where a statute of the State is held void, and to questions of law arising in such other cases of which the Courts of Civil Appeals have appellate jurisdiction as may be prescribed by law. In case of a direct appeal from the County and District Courts in any case where a statute of the State has been declared void, the Supreme Court and the Judges thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus as may be prescribed by law; and, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, the said Court and the Judges thereof may issue the writs of mandamus, procedendo, certiorari, and such other writs as may be necessary to enforce its jurisdiction. The Legislature may confer original jurisdiction on the Supreme Court to issue writs of quo warrantum and mandamus in such cases as may be specified except as against the Governor of the State. The Supreme Court shall also have power, upon affidavit or otherwise, as by law may be determined, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall be open at all times and shall sit at the State Capital for the transaction of business at such times as may be designated by the Court. The present statutes defining the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court not in conflict herewith shall continue in effect until repealed or altered by the Legislature. The Supreme Court shall appoint a Clerk, who shall give bond in such manner as is now or hereafter required by law, and he may hold his office for four years, and shall be subject to removal by said Court for good cause entered on record on the minutes of said Court, and who shall receive such compensation as the Legislature may provide.

Section 4 (of Article V): The Court of Criminal Appeals shall consist of three Judges, provided that the Legislature may increase the number to five, and a majority of the Judges shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of a majority of the Judges shall be necessary to the decision of any case. Said Judges shall have the same qualifications and receive the same salaries as the Judges of the Supreme Court. They shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State, at a general election, and shall hold their offices for a term of six years. The Judges of the Court of Criminal Appeals who may be in office at the time this amendment takes effect shall continue in office until the expiration of their terms of office under the present Constitution and laws.

Section 5 (of Article V): The Court of Criminal Appeals shall have appellate jurisdiction co-extensive with the limits of the State in all criminal cases of whatever grade, with such exceptions and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, and the Legislature may confer original jurisdiction upon it to issue writs of mandamus procedendo and certiorari in criminal cases. The Court of Criminal Appeals and the Judges thereof shall have the power to issue the writ of habeas corpus and, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, issue such other writs as may be necessary to enforce its own jurisdiction. Section 6 (of Article V): The Legislature shall, from time to time, divide the State into such number of Supreme Judicial Districts as it may seem necessary, not exceeding twelve at any one time, and shall have the power to re-divide the State at any time, and shall establish a Court of Civil Appeals in each of said Districts, which Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and not less than two Associate Justices as the Legislature may provide, who shall have the qualifications as herein prescribed for Justices of the Supreme Court, provided that the aggregate number of Judges of all the Courts of Civil Appeals shall never at any time exceed thirty-six. Said Courts of Civil Appeals shall hold their sessions at such places as may be designated by the Legislature and at such times as may be prescribed by law. The Judges of the Courts of Civil Appeals who may be in office when this amendment takes effect shall hold their offices until their respective terms shall expire under their present election or appointment.

Section 7 (of Article V): The State shall be divided into as many Judicial Districts as may now or hereafter be provided by law, which may be increased or diminished by law. For each district there shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, at a general election, a Judge, who shall be a citizen of the United States and of this State, who shall have been a licensed lawyer for four years next preceding his election, and during that time shall have been a practicing lawyer or Judge of a Court of record or such practicing lawyer and Judge together, who shall have resided in the District in which he was elected for two years next preceding his election, who shall reside in his District during his term of office, who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and shall receive for his services such compensation as may be prescribed by law. He shall hold the regular terms of his Court at the County seat of each County in his District at least twice in each year, and in such manner as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature shall have power, by general or special laws, to authorize the holding of special terms of the court or the holding of more than two terms in any County for the dispatch of business. The Legislature shall also provide for the holding of District Court when the Judge thereof is absent or is, from any cause, disabled or disqualified from presiding. The Supreme Court or the Chief Justice thereof may assign any District Judge to any District in the State other than that for which he was elected, with all the powers of a resident District Judge of the District to which he is assigned, under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Legislature, or by the Supreme Court in the absence of such regulations enacted by the Legislature. The District Judges who may be in office when this amendment takes effect shall hold their offices until their respective terms shall expire under their present election or appointment.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT OF PETTY'S CHAPEL WAS HIGHLY ENTERTAINING

In the afternoon of Friday, April 29, there was an exhibit of school work of the pupils of the Petty's Chapel School for the past term of school. The work exhibited was what had been made, then kept through the respective stages, then placed on exhibit. Each of the three rooms was lined with the work of each pupil grouped. The work was neatly arranged, expressing a keen sense of art, and depicting painstaking care used. The American flag, because the pupils had earned it through the sale of a gross of pencils, was spread in the principal's room and lent a charm to the scene. Visitors were received from 1 to 4 o'clock. The teachers, as well as the pupils, manifested much interest in showing the visitors through all the work.

In the primary room with Mrs. Bonnie Boltz as teacher, the elementary work was well expressed. Each child's work being neatly done and portrayed. Various forms of weaving; arithmetic work, and reading comprised the chief parts of the exhibit. Neatness and order was predominant throughout the entire room.

In the intermediate room, conducted by Miss Jac King, maps showing the resources of the United States and outline of the outlying possessions of the United States. Territorial maps and life of the early colonies was given due consideration. Two miniature dolls were dressed depicting the way the early colonists dressed. Political and surface maps of Africa, Australia, Europe and South America were well executed.

History of Texas under six flags, her resources of outstanding importance in the early days was as good a piece of work as could be found anywhere. Each part was wonderfully portrayed in outline and words. Poster and booklet work of various kinds were seen. The holiday posters, carrying out the holiday spirit were well given. The reading, arithmetic, sanitation and English work came in for an equal share of praise for the pupils.

In the principal's room, with Mrs. Mabel Boltz as teacher, Texas, different colleges and universities, industrial, political and agricultural maps were shown, giving a condensed statement of the growth of Texas up to the present time. Along with the other pictures scenes of the Holy Land were shown. Drawing and poster work was a compliment to both pupil and teacher. Work in manual training was given; sewing of the 4-H Club, conducted by Miss Lawson, county home demonstrator, was also shown.

Petty's Chapel school has a certificate of approval signed by S. M. N. Marrs, state school superintendent, giving class A, Standard Rural School, to it. Two were given, Barry being the recipient of the other one. County Superintendent Andrew G. Steele, stated while here Friday, there were only about thirty certificates given to the rural schools of the state, which makes this certificate all the more appreciated.

FORMER CORSICANA POLICE OFFICER IS TRIED IN DALLAS

By Associated Press.
Dallas, Texas, May 5.—J. S. Williams, former Corsicana police officer, was found guilty of manslaughter in District Court here today on a charge of slaying Jack Coker in Corsicana in 1923, and was given a two year suspended sentence.

J. S. Williams was tried in the Thirteenth Judicial District Court before Judge Hawkins Scarborough for murder jointly with Earl Horton, special railroad officer, and Jim Green, Corsicana policeman, and was found guilty of manslaughter and given two years. Horton and Green were acquitted in the trial.

The trial was one of the most celebrated cases tried in Corsicana in recent years and the district court room was crowded to capacity during all sessions.

Coker was killed in East Corsicana. The officers' version was that they attempted to stop the car and were fired upon. Coker was a well-known Ellis county citizen and a special prosecutor, Mr. Tracy from Ellis county, assisted County Attorney B. W. George in the prosecution. Considerable litigation was occasioned by the city commission appropriating money for the defense of the accused officers, the city finally winning the case that was taken to the Supreme Court.

After the trial, District Judge Hawkins Scarborough granted Williams a new trial and it later was transferred to the Criminal Court No. 2, Dallas county, before Judge

CHRISTIANS CLOSE DISTRICT MEETING HERE WEDNESDAY

The Dallas District Convention of the Christian Church closed a busy two day session held at the First Christian church here, Wednesday afternoon.

Some of the outstanding leaders of the denomination were on the program and discussed various phases of church work.

Early Wednesday morning the future work committee and the pastors attending the convention met for a discussion of plans for the future work of the church.

Most of the Wednesday morning session was taken up by addresses. Speakers on the program were Howard Peters of Waco, who discussed "Dallas District," Graham Frank of Dallas who spoke on "The Supreme Motive of Christianity," and J. D. Boyd of Fort Worth was on the program for the discussion of "Religious Education."

The principal address of the afternoon was delivered by Dr. W. P. King, president of Carr-Burdette College, Sherman. "Christian Education" was his subject.

A business session was also held in the afternoon.

Attendance at the Tuesday evening session was curtailed somewhat by the heavy rain that started falling just before the hour for assembly.

Rev. Paul J. Merrill, pastor of the First Christian church and president of the district, led the devotional service in the absence of George P. Dickinson of Garland whose name appeared on the program.

J. B. Holmes of Fort Worth, state superintendent of missions spoke on "Disciples of Christ and Christian Union." The speaker discussed the manner in which all churches might be united in one common cause.

Paul Preston was unable to attend the convention and Dr. W. P. King of Carr-Burdette College, Sherman took his place on the program Tuesday night. Dr. King discussed "Christian Education."

Dr. King stated that there were two classes of people, traders and missionaries, and that schools have grown up to equip these two classes. The difference in the tax supported schools and the religious schools was discussed at length by the speaker.

Other interesting features of the Tuesday evening session were a duet sung by Rev. and Mrs. Paul J. Merrill, and a brief discussion of plans for the convention led by J. B. Holmes.

About 75 delegates attended the convention and they were entertained in the homes of members of the First Christian church.

The Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday sessions were largely attended and much interest was shown in the work by the delegates.

Georgia Man Tells How He Found Relief for Many Complaints by Using An Old Home Remedy.

Athens, Ga.—"I have been married 51 years, and am the father of ten children," says Mr. J. C. E. Weatherford, R. F. D. "A," this city. "About the best home remedy I have ever found is Black-Draught. I can't remember when we haven't used it in the family, giving it to the children for colds and minor ills where a laxative is needed."

"We must have used Black-Draught for 40 years, anyway, and in that time we have tried it for many complaints. I would have dull, stupid feeling, and my head would ache and when I would lean over, I would get dizzy. I found that a couple of doses of Black-Draught would relieve this. I used to have gas on my stomach, and would spit up grease. Black-Draught relieved this."

"It is just an all-round good medicine. Now that I am 72 years old, have to take a laxative, and Black-Draught acts easy and gives me satisfaction."

In use for over 85 years. Costs only one cent a dose. NC-181

SAVING STEPS IS URGED

A PASS CLOSET SUGGESTED BY HOME ECONOMICS EXPERTS AS A STEP-SAVER U.S. DEPT. OF AGRIC. PHOTO

By Associated Press.
On the theory that a well-planned kitchen saves energy and releases time for the other demands on a homemaker, government home economic experts have several tips to offer persons planning to build or remodel homes this spring.

A step-saving arrangement applicable to a great many kitchens is a two-way or "pass" closet in the common wall between the kitchen and dining room. Shelves open into either room so that the china may be put away as soon as washed and taken out on the dining room side when wanted. Serving dishes containing food may be placed on the counter on the kitchen side and reached from the dining room, while soiled dishes are passed directly through to the kitchen.

The sink should be either along the common wall next to the closet or at right angles to it. If the latter, a window may be placed above the sink for light and air.

On the dining room side the only evidence of the pass closet may be an ordinary door sawed through the middle so that each part may be opened separately. Instead of shelves in the lower section of the closet, there may be drawers for storing silver and linen. On the kitchen side drawers and a low closet provide for towels, aprons and small utensils.

A closet of this type is inexpensive, it is claimed, and may save hundreds of steps a day in clearing away the remnants of the "three squares."

Proposed Reform to Eliminate Many Jobs

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, May 5.—Proposed civil service reform and issued by the administration would "eliminate a lot of non-essential jobs in the state government and promote more efficiency among the remainder of the employees," Governor Dan Moody said today.

"What the administration wants," Moody said, "is a bill which would subject holders of subordinate posts to practical efficiency in administrations.

"Properly worked, it would be a great boon to the state and remove state jobs out of the political firing zone."

The governor already has listed civil service as one of the reforms he desires the Fortieth Legislature to attempt in its coming special session. The project is demanded in a state Democratic party plank.

HINTS FOR FARM AND HOME

Furnished by the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

By Associated Press.
Any kind of feed that produces indigestion and forms gas in the paunch may cause bloat in calves. Young clover or alfalfa, cold milk, spoiled silage, roots and pasture, especially if covered with dew may cause this trouble.

Young chicks confined in a small bare yard should be given green feed, such as cabbage, lawn clippings, cut alfalfa, cut clover or sprouted oats. It is not advisable, however, to chop greens and vegetables for them, since too much time would be required, and the chicks are really better off if allowed to pick from a slice or a leaf.

Farmers are finding that a radio is an investment that returns in increased prices for their products through better knowledge of market conditions.

Chickens of the American breeds are best suited for the general farm flock. These include the Plymouth Rock, Wyandotte, Rhode Island Red and Jersey Black Giant. They are good producers of brown-shelled eggs and possess desirable table qualities, the yellow flesh being popular on American markets.

Terraces on farm lands require considerable care and attention, especially during the first year, before the loose soil has had time to become settled thoroughly.

A simple scorch stain can often be removed by moistening the spot with water and placing in the sun.

A good rotation system should include a legume and a cultivated crop. Legumes gather nitrogen from the air and store it in the soil. They also help maintain the supply of humus. The clovers, cowpeas, soybeans, vetch and crimson clover are the leading legumes.

Cakes made with honey keep soft for months, as does honey icing. Honey may be substituted for sugar in any favorite recipe, using cup for cup.

THOUSANDS HAVE BEEN CORNERED BY MANY LEVEE BREAKS

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 5.—Rescue of fifty thousand men, women and children, thousands of them cornered by repeated breaks in the Mississippi levee during the past four days, became the immediate problem today of the great relief machine of Louisiana.

Craft of almost every type, from the lumbering river steamer to the flat boat propelled by an outboard motor, were busy in wide stretches of the Northern Louisiana district removing the homeless to concentration camps in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Many swift seaplanes of the navy roared over the more isolated inland places to locate refugees clinging to roof tops, trees and tops of promontories projecting above the swirling flood waters.

Playing a prominent part were bronzed life savers of the light house department, men who have fought the mountainous waves of the Atlantic, the Gulf and the Great Lakes for years, to find a new and strange enemy in a mighty river writhing in the throes of its greatest flood of history.

Scenes Are Pitiful.
As the rescue guards look on many heartrending scenes, children literally dazed by a catastrophe, new in their lives, cling piteously to their mothers, who fight back their own fears and anxiety to allay those of their offspring.

Men struggle along under the weight of treasured possessions, exiled from the homes and fields where their long years of effort is being relentlessly wiped out by the flood.

Occasionally as the caravans move slowly to the high land groups of negroes begin to chant their favorite hymns, their spirit undaunted by even the worst of the many floods they have survived.

With the marchers go horses, mules, cattle, pigs and many varieties of fogs. But not all of the livestock will be saved. Many head will be caught in the flood to swim until exhaustion has made them a prey to the murky waters.

Other Battles Being Fought.

As this fight for life proceeds to the Northward other battles go forward over wide fronts to the South and West. At the bottom of the funnel-shaped flooded area engineers and laborers pit their wits and brawn against the great mass of water bearing down from the north in the effort to divert it back into the Mississippi and to save the rich sugar cane belt in the South Central part of the State.

Northward at Monroe, and West Monroe, in Ouachita parish, another small army labors against a front and flanking foe—the swelling Ouachita itself and backwaters coming down from Arkansas to flood a swamp behind the town.

Water is Covering Additional Parishes

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, May 5.—Fifty thousand persons were threatened today with the wrath of the Mississippi and its tributaries, swelling swirling waters from torn levees and backing lowlands to form an ever growing lake which left but the tops of the trees above its surface.

More than twelve thousand inhabitants were being driven from Tensas parish in the most complete evacuation of the parish since 1882. Town of St. Joseph, Water proof and Newellton were being deserted as were those of smaller communities in the path of the torrents streaming through a breach in the levee at Winter Quarters, four miles above St. Joseph.

Virtually all of Concordia parish already had been given over to the backwaters of the Red and Old rivers. Twelve thousand residents were affected by the flood in that parish where 425,000 acres of rich, alluvial cotton and swamp lands were covered. Vidalia and Ford, the section's principal towns, either already were entirely under water or were expected to be submerged within the next few hours.

Other neighboring parishes, Madison, East and West Carroll, Morehouse, Richland, Franklin, Catahoula, and Avoyelles, also were feeling the effect of water from either the Mississippi or its tributaries.

A man was reported drowned at Winn Island, Richland parish, where twenty-four persons were marooned upon high ground. A swift current prevented boats from reaching them.

Five Thousand Homeless
Five thousand persons had been made homeless in that section within twenty-four hours. Motor boats and skiffs were used by rescuers throughout the night in saving men, women and children from house tops and trees.

Another ominous threat impended with various reports of other levees weakening along the Mississippi line.

Further west and to the south, Rapides parish officials appealed for men and spades as many struggled with the waters of the Red rapids. In attempt to cut the levee along that stream was believed forestalled with the arrival of armed men to patrol the embankments.

Monroe, in Ouachita parish, already threatened by the bulging Ouachita, was forced to do an about face to fight a more eminent foe as La Fourche swamp, filled with waters loosened by the Arkansas river, turned on the turn. Work was started on a levee extension which would place the town behind a bar-

NEGRO LYNCHED AND BODY LATER BURNED LITTLE ROCK STREET

By Associated Press.
Little Rock, Ark., May 5.—The sight of militiamen standing guard on important street corners with fixed bayonets greeted residents of Little Rock today following a night of disorder, during which a negro was lynched, his body dragged through the business section and burned upon a funeral pyre while several thousand persons looked on.

Fear of additional serious racial troubles caused Governor Martin to order out a National Guard Company for all night patrol duty. He hurried here on a special train from Van Buren, where yesterday he attended a strawberry festival.

By midnight, after hundreds of armed men had paraded the streets in automobiles, firing volley after volley of shots into the air, the National Guard had virtually cleared the streets and gained control of the situation.

The Governor acted when informed that local authorities were standing by helplessly, while angry men invaded a negro quarter and a general outbreak of violence was threatened.

PROTHEROE ET AL TEST ABOUNDED AFTER FISHING

The Fred Haynes et al Hearing, across the Trinity from the Hertz area was reported in the chalk at 2485 feet. A rock bit is being used to penetrate the chalk in this test.

Lime was still holding the attention of operators at Ennis Thursday. The Rachal 1, being drilled by W. M. Peck, was reported at 3320.

The test well on the Little farm in the Oak Valley community, west of Corsicana, has been plugged and abandoned after several days spent on a fishing job. The rig will be skidded over and a new hole drilled by Protheroe et al, of Dallas, who have recently acquired complete control of the operations. This well was started in the early part of 1926, and is down about 1700 feet.
